The genuine friendships that are made are the best I have found in my life. Everyone cares for one and another equally and the opportunity to serve with the brothers and sisters of our "big family" is the highlight of my college career.

To be able to leave college and say “I helped my university.”

A great group of students that share the same academic values as you and have the same love and desire to see MSU continue to grow and prosper. You share this passion and became family along the journey.

You get to build relationships with the Alumni Delegate family as well as alumni and friends of Mississippi State.

To be encouraged, uplifted, motivated, pushed beyond your own comfort, and given the opportunity to serve this wonderful university alongside friends who are more encouraging than you know.

The number one reason I would tell someone to apply to be an Alumni Delegate is that you see how much Mississippi State means to other people which leads to you loving this university even more.

You get an opportunity to serve everyone at Mississippi State: alumni, faculty and students in being a part of one organization.

You truly have a family with the Delegates. Knowing that you can count on 43 others is indescribable.

Being an Alumni Delegate isn't just being a part of an organization because it looks good on a resume, it's about being surrounded by people who care about you, MSU and the organization itself.

You are able to meet and serve the most incredible alumni and share with them how student life and campus have changed since they were here.

It is an organization like no other on campus. You are able to meet with alumni that literally would do anything for this university. You get to help at football games and see the enjoyment families have on campus, and you get to spend time with other students from all aspects of MSU each week.

The number one reason for becoming a delegate is the opportunity to become family with the greatest students Mississippi State has to offer.

You need to be an Alumni Delegate so you can serve your university in ways that you cannot imagine.

Alumni Delegates gives you a family at Mississippi State that you can always go to, unlike almost anything else on this campus.
You'll never be a part of an organization where everyone wants to be there, help out and serve our university. The close knit group of students is something special.

You learn to live for somebody other than yourself. Not to think less of yourself but to think of yourself less.

The number one reason to be a delegate is experiencing the true feeling of what it’s like to be a servant in every aspect of the word. We serve Mississippi State. We serve each other.

The people in this group are the most inspiring, encouraging people I have ever met. They encourage me to be a better person every day. I am so grateful to have each and every one of them. I wouldn't trade it for the world.

It will make you the best that you can be. Delegates bring out the goodness and righteousness in every heart.

The opportunity to serve, give back and make an impact on the lives of others. To sum it all up, service!

It's a group that you can be a part of where you don't have to be anyone but yourself – there are no pretenses and everyone loves you for the way you are and no matter your background. It’s just a big family full of different personalities – that’s why I love it so much!

This group has been so much like a family to me. Each person has helped me grow in so many ways. I’ve been humbled by the experiences and absolutely love serving for MSU.

The number one reason I would tell a prospective applicant to be an Alumni Delegate is the great new family they have to embrace and be embraced by. I had no idea before, but I cannot count the times I have leaned on a fellow delegate for advice and encouragement. The quality of person in this group is absolutely unrivaled anywhere else on campus.

The fellowship with the top students on campus and to be able to serve the alumni that make it possible for me to be where I am.

This group is unlike any I have ever been a part of and it has been the most humbling experience. I would have to say that, by far, the thing that stands out to me the most is the commitment this group has to the organization, and to each other. If someone says that they are going to do something, they do it, no question asked. You don't have to force people to volunteer, they relish the opportunity.

With this organization you learn to be selfless. It is not about you - it is about serving others and making others happy.

Doors open that you never thought you would have the opportunity to walk through when you're a part of AD. Whether it’s a speaker you hear, an alumnus you meet or an event you work, the opportunities and blessings are endless.

I have never in my life been a part of a group who will love me, support me, listen to me and offer me advice no matter what, until I was selected to be an Alumni Delegate.

Reasons to become an Alumni Delegate from current Alumni Delegates

• You’ll never be a part of an organization where everyone wants to be there, help out and serve our university. The close knit group of students is something special.

• You learn to live for somebody other than yourself. Not to think less of yourself but to think of yourself less.

• The number one reason to be a delegate is experiencing the true feeling of what it’s like to be a servant in every aspect of the word. We serve Mississippi State. We serve each other.

• The people in this group are the most inspiring, encouraging people I have ever met. They encourage me to be a better person every day. I am so grateful to have each and every one of them. I wouldn't trade it for the world.

• It will make you the best that you can be. Delegates bring out the goodness and righteousness in every heart.

• The opportunity to serve, give back and make an impact on the lives of others. To sum it all up, service!

• It's a group that you can be a part of where you don't have to be anyone but yourself – there are no pretenses and everyone loves you for the way you are and no matter your background. It’s just a big family full of different personalities – that’s why I love it so much!

• This group has been so much like a family to me. Each person has helped me grow in so many ways. I’ve been humbled by the experiences and absolutely love serving for MSU.

• The number one reason I would tell a prospective applicant to be an Alumni Delegate is the great new family they have to embrace and be embraced by. I had no idea before, but I cannot count the times I have leaned on a fellow delegate for advice and encouragement. The quality of person in this group is absolutely unrivaled anywhere else on campus.

• The fellowship with the top students on campus and to be able to serve the alumni that make it possible for me to be where I am.

• This group is unlike any I have ever been a part of and it has been the most humbling experience. I would have to say that, by far, the thing that stands out to me the most is the commitment this group has to the organization, and to each other. If someone says that they are going to do something, they do it, no question asked. You don't have to force people to volunteer, they relish the opportunity.

• With this organization you learn to be selfless. It is not about you - it is about serving others and making others happy.

• Doors open that you never thought you would have the opportunity to walk through when you're a part of AD. Whether it’s a speaker you hear, an alumnus you meet or an event you work, the opportunities and blessings are endless.

• I have never in my life been a part of a group who will love me, support me, listen to me and offer me advice no matter what, until I was selected to be an Alumni Delegate.
This group is so genuine in everything they do. From the acts of service to the friendships within the organization, this group is the real deal. A fantastic group of people.

To be able to serve. The opportunities that AD gives you to serve are unparalleled to any other organization on campus.

Alumni Delegate has challenged me, helped me grow in my faith, and changed my life. I feel like I am a completely different person now than I was last year when I tried out. I cherish the small things in life, and I have learned that investing time in others is the most meaningful thing you can do in life. I thought I was so “good” when I tried out, but AD has taught me how much better I can be.

You will learn what true leadership is and how to take on the heart of a servant. The way you lead and the way you serve will be changed forever. Delegates prepared me for leadership opportunities that I did not see coming.

Alumni Delegates challenges you to become a better person but in the most humbling ways. No one leaves this organization the same as when they first stepped into it.

This is a life changing organization. Alumni Delegates have become my family. I feel so comfortable and welcome every time I walk into an Alumni Delegate room/event. These are the most genuine and caring students you could meet on this campus. They love to serve and are wonderful influences on me.

I have never been more inspired by a group of individuals as I am by the Alumni Delegates. We are not simply an organization or club...we are family. I am challenged daily to give more, to serve more, to love more.

It turns you into the type of person you want to be when you graduate, and provides you with the service, leadership and relational opportunities to make that happen. We have such potential to become the person we want to be when we graduate.

The opportunity to get to show someone how great Mississippi State is while serving alongside awesome people.

One reason a person should be a Delegate is because you will always be a Delegate. It is a lifelong bond and support system that I can always count on forever! The circle never ends!

The dedication amongst this group to one another and to helping support MSU and its alumni has been one of my favorite things about Delegates. It’s so powerful to see one another’s drive and dedication for the same thing.

Being a part of alumni delegates is the best way to serve the university while getting to work with some of the university’s best students and staff.

The memories you make working events and the people you get to meet are irreplaceable! You are truly rewarded from serving others.